- BRUSH at least twice a day. Before Brushing, hold your toothbrush under warm running water. Apply Crest sensitive toothpaste. After the first couple of days if laser contouring was done on your gums, you may see a thin white line. This will be seen where the profisional and the gum meet. It may look as if you have some bread stuck there. Do not brush that off. It is the body healing itself. Apply the Dental gum gel 4 times daily and after brushing at bedtime.

- Your temporaries are made of acrylic. Acrylic sxrinks and contracts. I tell female patients, if you have ever had your nails done, they are made out of the same material. You may hear some popping sounds while drinking hot or cold beyerages. This is normal. While drinking something hot your temporaries may feel loose. While drinking something cold they may feel light. We recommend drinking fluids at room temperature.
- Ayoid foods that are hard and sticky, as they may break or pull off your temporaries. When I first had my provisionals placed, I bit into bagel and broke them. Ayoid biting into foods that are hard or crunchy. I tell patients to not bite into anything with their provisionals. Cut everything up and chew on your back teeth. Cat soft foods such as (Baked Chicken, Fish, Pasta, Mashed Potatoes, Cooked Yegetables, Cooked Catmeal, Grits, Yogurt, etc).
- Please ayold any foods that may be highly acidic. Barbecue sauce, Ketchup, Orange Juice, Grapefruit Juice, Not Sauce may burn or irritate the tissue area.
